All four accused in Hyderabad veterinarian rape-murder

KILLED IN ENCOUNTER

Hyderabad, Dec. 6 (UNI & Agencies)- The Nation this morning woke up to a pre-dawn encounter where the Cyberabad Police shot dead all four suspects of veterinarian Disha's rape and murder case. The gruesome rape and murder had triggered nationwide outrage with lawmakers demanding public lynching of the accused on the floor of Parliament.

The four accused in the rape case who were shot dead at 3 am today.

Disha (name changed), the 26-year-old veterinarian was smothered, raped and then burnt by the suspects on Nov. 27. The incident shook the Nation's conscience like the Nirbhaya case that occurred in New Delhi on Dec. 16, 2012.

Around 3 am today, the Cyberabad Police opened fire on them on National Highway-4 near Hyderabad at the very same place where Disha's charred body was found. The Police had taken the four accused — Mohammad Ali alias Mohammad Arif, Jollu Shiva, Jollu Naveen Kumar and Chintakunta Chennakesavulu — to the spot for the recreation of the crime scene when the incident occurred.

According to the Police, the suspects began stoning cops in order to escape. The Police directed them to surrender, but the suspects didn't follow instructions, forcing the cops to use their weapons. Two Policemen were injured in the incident.

Vishwanath C. Sajjanar, Cyberabad Police Commissioner, who hails from Hubballi in Karnataka, confirmed the incident. "The four suspects were killed in crossfire in wee hours on Friday," he said.

All the accused are natives of Narayanpet district, at Thondupally toll gate on Outer Ring Road, Shamshabad. The gang who was driving a lorry had trapped her by deflating one of the tyres of her two-wheeler which she had parked near the toll gate. Around 9 pm, when Disha reached the spot to take her vehicle she noticed that the tyre was punctured. The men approached her saying they would help her fix the tyre. They later forcibly took her to nearby bushes, assaulted, raped and killed her. After killing her, they burned her body at Chatanpally village, a few kms away from the place where she was murdered.

Disha's charred body was found on Nov. 28, triggering nation-wide protests. The suspects were arrested within 36 hours after the incident and were remanded in judicial custody. On Wednesday, they were produced before the Court, when the Court remanded them in Police custody on Thursday.

Food-faith-region connect

The expression unity in diversity has been heard ad nauseam by the land's urban literati as public speakers of all hues take fascination to add a bit of glory to the country's image. While the unity part of the popular slogan has just begun to be suspect, the diversity part on many counts seems to be transforming the people into virtually unmanageable diversity, making the task of governance a daunting exercise, although the contemporary tribe of people's elected(?) representatives at the helm have taken their duties as mere pastime (to get rich quick with cash sourced to everyone in the land is aware of). Having begun this column with the foregoing brief preamble, it is appropriate to digress in order to focus on the column's heading. Identifying the country's people by the region they have tenanted for long based on what foods they usually consume is not a matter of guessing yet. Sugar in virtually every dish is a must for those hailing from Gujarat. Chilli at its peak of pungency is the preferred spice of people in Andhra Pradesh (now add Telangana). Central regions of the land accounting for almost half the country's total head-count, including Punjab and Haryana, swear by roti-dal combo. Coconut oil and kokum as acidulent dominate the diet of Kerala inhabitants while the people of Bengal must have fresh-water fish and mustard oil. People of Karnataka's rural parts are still holding on to ragi lump.

Describing people as vegetarians (now shortened to vegans) and non-vegetarians is not taken in right spirit by the latter class, often ridiculing those in the former class. The hybrid class, namely eggetarians are placed neither here nor there. Strangely, milk, unquestionably an animal product, is one of the staples of vegetarians, even the orthodox sections. Soaring cost of meat, fish and eggs is blamed by the traditional non-vegetarians on the formerly classified as vegetarians, who have to live with that charge.

Thanks to the emerging mass of youth who don't believe in being fettered by the customary diktat of what should be avoided in their menu, particularly in the country's urban space, demarking the two classes into meat-eating and vegetarian doesn't seem to pass scrutiny. Hypothetically, if the entire population was strictly, that is 100 percent, vegetarian, food shortage would have stared at this mass. So also, if the country's population was 100 percent non-vegetarians, cost of their diet would hit the sky. In passing, it may be stated that even among non-vegetarians, beef-eating marks a well-identified section following their exclusive faith and patronising pork marks another well-identified ethnic section in the country. Further, sections of society, considering onion and garlic as spices to be strictly avoided in their dishes cannot hide their identity, despite facing the ridicule as outdated. Writing about food and its connect with faiths, regions and ethnicity would need volumes to say it all. The remark of American writer Henry Miller (1891-1980) that Americans can eat garbage, provided it is sprinkled liberally with ketchup, sounds like a sweeping view that Indians don't yet qualify to emulate Americans, although there are some signs of that happening.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

To many Hindus, few Gods have more pull than Tirupathi Balaji. The essence of the Tamil proverb, 'If you drop a grain of ellu (sesame) in the crowd, it will land as a droplet of til oil on the ground,' applies to the case of the crowd density at the sacred seven hills than it would probably anywhere else. One can get pummelled, pushed, badgered and browbeaten by the milling crowd that forms an orderly line until let loose near the sanctum sanctorum where the devotees would scatter like berries poured out from a gunny bag. An ardent devotee will not be satisfied by the few seconds available for communion with the deity while being pulled, pushed and rushed by the temple staff with the infamous regimental command 'jarugandi, jarugandi' (move on, move on). — J.S. Raghavan in Deccan Herald

Spray-painted Polar Bear baffles Russian wildlife experts

Moscow: A footage of a full-grown polar bear with "T-34" spray-painted in black on its side has left wildlife experts in Russia scratching their heads as to who or why branded the animal this way. The T-34 was a legendary Soviet tank that played a crucial role in Russia's victory over Nazi Germany in World War 2, which has led some experts to believe that the text spray-painted on the polar bear spotted in Arctic Russia was nothing more than a poor military-themed joke. On the one hand, it's hard to believe that scientists would ever do such a thing, and on the other, whoever did it must have tranquilized is beforehand.

Big booty problem

Miami: Courtney Barnes, known as Miss Miami, found that out the hard way after getting illegal butt injections that caused her behind to swell to 60 inches. The 35-year-old model went on E!'s reality television show Botched to fix her derriere and was shocked when doctors let her know they may have to amputate a large part of her butt. "Amputate the whole booty? I'm not doing that. I'm not amputating butts," Barnes said.

Barnes revealed, "When I was in college I got a job dancing at a club," she said, adding, "The first night, after really not making no money on the stage, there was a dancer who walked up to me and she told me that I needed some more booty if I wanted to make some more money." "After six rounds of butt injections I spent about seven or eight thousand dollars to get me right here, with these big booty problems," she said.

For now, the Botched doctors don't have a safe solution for reducing the size of Barnes' butt, however, she remained hopeful saying: "Don't take too long because I want a regular butt."

Rioting, ban orders violation: MLA, Cong. District President booked

Mysuru, Dec. 6 (UNI)- The Mysuru District Police have booked Mysuru District Congress President Dr. B.J. Vijayakumar and Congress MLA from H.D. Kote Anil Chikkamadu for allegedly trying to prevent Police officers from discharging their duties during polling at Hosaramenahalli in Hunsur yesterday.

The party leaders have also been slapped with charges of unlawful assembly and rioting, violating prohibitory order that was in effect along with their 20 supporters within the radius of polling station.

Tension prevailed at Hosaramenahalli as heated arguments broke out between the Police officials and Congress functionaries as Police Inspector Anil asked the MLA and his supporters to move away from the polling centre in the village as ban orders under Section 144 was in force around the polling booth.

Irked over this, a host of Congress leaders, supporters and family members of the MLA staged a flash protest at the village and blocked the Bilikere-Belur State Highway for a while, demanding an apology.

A video grab of Mysuru District Congress President Dr. B.J. Vijayakumar arguing with Hunsur Sub-Division Dy.SP K.S. Sundar Raj.

The Congress leaders accused Police Inspector Sunil of insulting MLA Anil, when he was returning after casting his vote. According to the party workers and the MLA, Sunil disrespected the MLA by calling him in singular, while asking him to leave the place. The protesters demanded the Inspector to visit the spot to tender an apology to the MLA.

The situation turned worse after a host of Congress leaders, including B.J. Vijayakumar, arrived in the village. The verbal spat broke out between Vijayakumar and Deputy Superintendent of Police (DySP), Hunsur Sub-Division, K.S. Sundar Raj, during a peace meeting at a temple in the village.

Vijayakumar accused the Police officials of misusing power and targeting Congress leaders. He alleged that the Police are working in favour of BJP, by misusing power. The officer who disrespected the MLA should apologise, he demanded. "Hosaramenahalli is my birthplace and the Police did not allow me to stay at my village. Though I was moving away, the Police official disrespected me," Anil Chikkamadu alleged.

However, ASP P.V. Sneha declined to summon the officer to the spot, claiming that he is on duty and asked the protesters and the MLA to file a complaint. "We will take necessary action against the officer, if he is found guilty. But we cannot summon him to the spot, as he is on election duty," she said.

The ASP spoke to former Chief Minister Siddharamaiah and explained about the incident. Later, a cameraman showed a recorded video of the incident where Anil Chikkamadu alleged that the Police officer had insulted him. The video proved that the MLA was levelling baseless allegations against the Police and was making a mountain out of a molehill.

Mysuru Superintendent of Police C.B. Ryshyanth told reporters that both Vijayakumar and Chikkamadu have been booked along with others under provisions of IPC for preventing Police officers from discharging duties. A case has been booked under IPC Sections 353, 143 and 147 against them and Bilikere cops are investigating.

Exit polls predict BJP will continue in power

Four exit polls predict that the BJP will win at least nine seats or more

Bengaluru, Dec. 6 (UNI)- If the exit polls predictions in Karnataka by-elections are anything to go by, then Chief Minister B.S. Yediyurappa will comfortably hold onto his chair, post-Dec. 9.

The BJP needs to win at least six of the 15 seats that went for the polls yesterday. The results will be declared on December 9. Four prominent exit polls predicted that the BJP will win at nine seats or more.

C-Voter exit polls have predicted the BJP will win 12 out of the 15 seats and Congress will win only three seats. The JD(S) is pegged to win no seats, according to C-Voter. According to Public TV, BJP is expected to win 8-10 seats while the Congress and JD(S) who fought the elections separately will win 3-5 seats and 1-2 seats respectively. Meanwhile, independent candidates are pegged to win 0-1 seats.

Even BTV has forecast a favourable result for the BJP. This exit poll also predicts BJP is poised to win nine seats while the Congress and JD(S) will manage just three and two seats each. And one independent candidate is expected to emerge victorious.

Similarly, Power TV has said the BJP will secure 8-12 sets, while the Congress will win 3-6 seats. The JD(S) and independents will win only 0-2 and 0-1 seats respectively. These exit polls are based on data collected till 4 pm.

The Opposition Congress was quick to dismiss the exit poll predictions. KPCC President Dinesh Gundu Rao tweeted, "Exit poll is not exact poll." "Congress workers have worked day and night on behalf of our candidates for 15 days. Rest now as Monday's results will be against disqualified MLAs and pro people," he said.

BJP State President Nalin Kumar Kateel also thanked the efforts of BJP leaders and workers during the by-poll campaign. "I thank all who cast their votes for the development of Karnataka under the leadership of CM Yediyurappa," he said, expressing confidence of BJP securing a majority.

66.25 percent of voting recorded

Bengaluru, Dec. 6 (UNI)- An estimated 66.25 percent voters exercised their franchise for by-elections to 15 Assembly Constituencies in Karnataka that went to polls yesterday.

The highest turnout was reported in Hoskote Assembly Constituency with 86.77 and the lowest was in K.R. Puram with 43.25 percent. The other two Constituencies in Bengaluru too have recorded low turnout, Mahalakshmi layout with 50.92 percent and Shivajinagar with 44.60 percent, Election Commission said.

Turnout in other Constituencies are: Athani- 76.23 percent, Kagwad- 76.27, Gokak- 73.06, Yellapura- 77.52, Hirekerur- 78.63, Ranebennur-73.53, Vijayanagara-64.95, Yeshwantpur- 54, K.R. Pet - 80 percent, Hunsur- 80.62 and Chikkaballapura- 86.19. Results will be announced on December 9.

The polls that began on a dull note in the morning picked up later in the day. The polls were by and large peaceful except for some snags reported in VVPATs in some booths, which were changed. There were reports of EVMs developing snags in Mahalakshmi Layout and Athani. However, Election Commission officials said polling was not hit anywhere and the snags have been set right within a few minutes.

Mobile de-addiction is need of the hour

Sir,

Apropos "Nuisance of technology and mobile addiction" (SOM dated Dec.5), I wish to add that the technology in general and mobile technology in particular is taking the entire generation to a disastrous ruin of young energy which was supposed to be taking the nation towards intellectual upliftment.

The sad end to a story, rather sarcastic: "Once there was an active boy and his mom gifted him a mobile on his birthday..." says it all.

Youngsters are now unable to live without their extended appendage of their bodies —the all pervading mobile.

Now we will have to head towards mobile de-addiction like the alcohol de-addiction to save our society from intellectual standstill.

The unhealthy eating of junk and unhealthy mobile addiction will take our society to dogs if we do not wake up now.

Taming the Social Media !

It is reported that our Government is considering the idea of bringing in measures that will ensure that the identity and phone number of the first person who creates and sends a message on WhatsApp remains encrypted in the message. This will be on the lines of the EXIF data that remains attached to any photograph that is taken on a digital device like a camera, Smartphone or Tablet.

Our Government would do well to also ensure that along with the identity of the person generating the original message even the identity of anyone who modifies any message also gets tagged with it inseparably. That would not only deter senders of false news and hate messages but also those who twist and turn and falsify the truth downstream.

There may be many amongst us who may shout and scream that this will amount to an infringement of our right to privacy and free speech. But we have come to a stage where we should also ponder over what the unbridled right to free speech, abetted and assisted by the right to privacy, is doing to our society. We should understand that our Government is only trying to introduce some degree of accountability for all the good, the bad and the ugly that get circulated across the length and breadth of the world, unhindered by any boundaries and borders whatsoever.

What started as a means of communicating socially and exchanging information and ideas easily has now become a means of spreading much hatred among the entire human race. And, we all know very well that today the bad and the ugly ideas that are doing the rounds on our social media far outstrip the little good that gets pushed around or even pushed out altogether from the circuit.

So we will not be wrong in lamenting that today the social media has largely become the anti-social media of our times. And, the sadder and rather shameful part of this exercise is that many so-called very respectable and responsible members of our society too indulge in much hate-mongering through the social media simply because their identity remains hidden. It is rightly said that 'Character is what we are in the dark' and when we are sure that nobody is watching us a good many of us do not mind doing something uncharitable and unholy just to give an outlet to our frustrations.

Many people harbour a dual personality and they enjoy playing a double game... playing the part of Dr. Jekyll who does much good in public view and Mr. Hyde who does much bad, incognito. If we are honest enough to ourselves we will all agree that among these are our intellectuals, professionals, technocrats, bureaucrats, leaders, politicians, public figures and our peace-makers too!

As of now there is no means of easily pin-pointing who is behind the generation of all the hate and angst that is flowing free on what we so erroneously call the 'Social Media'. The grim truth is that most of us, yes, most of us, have become mindless, robotic 'forwarders' of all the messages and material that we endlessly receive on our phones without bothering to ask ourselves whether what we are doing is good or bad or whether it is even necessary. And, we have all become so addicted to this pastime of receiving and relaying information that we have also stopped asking if what we are forwarding could really be true!

This addiction is so strong that most of us wake up and become a little disappointed and even dejected if we find that there is nothing much in our in-boxes. And, on the few occasions when the internet breaks down or even slows down a little we become mean, snarling beasts that curse and grumble that our day has gone bad. The few among us who are graceful enough not to show their frame of mind overtly, suffer in silence but they do suffer!

I am not venturing here to change this mindset or to dispense advice on how bad we have become and how we should reform ourselves because that lofty dream is certainly beyond the ability of one solitary person who sits in one corner of the world penning his thoughts to pass his time and meet the expectations of a handful of his regular readers. The change in our mindsets should come from within the hearts of all of us who call ourselves human beings, the highest of all creations on this earth and who take pride over how much better we are than all the other creations we call beasts.

And, the change in our hearts should come from an awareness of what is good and what is bad which is what makes us human in the first place. But this is exactly the ability which we seem to have sadly lost somewhere during our long journey from being beasts to becoming humans!

A little more on hand sanitiser use

Two weeks ago after I wrote about the now widespread use of hand sanitisers, my friend and Orthopaedic Surgeon Dr. Nagabhushan pointed out that I should also enlighten the public about the hazards of their excessive use and so here I am.

Although alcohol-free sanitisers are available in the market now most sanitisers are alcohol based and hence these are very likely to cause dryness and cracking of the skin if used excessively. Dermatologists too agree that many ingredients that are added as moisturisers to combat this side effect and also to enhance their effectiveness can themselves cause skin allergies.

And, the rather interesting truth is that the fancier and more expensive brands of sanitisers contain the maximum number of additives that not only maximise the incidence of allergies but also make it very difficult to diagnose their cause!

Incidentally, for the information of all those who are concerned about the use of alcohol, let me clarify that the alcohol used here is iso-propyl alcohol and not ethyl alcohol that goes into alcoholic drinks. So all those who think that they can take a quick swig from their sanitiser bottles to banish their blues have no reason to feel very upbeat about carrying one all the time!

In its 100th convocation year, Gangothri campus turns haven for drunkards

Mysuru, Dec.6 (RKB&DM)- The Manasagangothri campus of the University of Mysore (UoM), which has produced lakhs of graduates in over a century of its establishment, is now turning into a haven for drunkards, in the absence of security measures.

Incidentally, the University is all set to hold its 100th convocation in February or March 2020.

The sprawling campus houses the statues and busts of great personalities like Buddha, Mahatma Gandhi, Dr. B.R. Ambedkar and Kuvempu.

When Star of Mysore went around the campus in view of the preparations for the convocation, it was found that alcoholics were misusing the usually calm campus for their pleasure. Such activities are denting the campus' calm atmosphere and also brings shame to the abode of learning — Manasagangothri, the brainchild of poet Laureate Kuvempu.

A view of the neglected Organic Chemistry Block in Gangothri.

The University celebrated its centenary in 2016, when the then Vice-Chancellor Prof. K.S. Rangappa came up with plans to build new structures to mark the grand celebrations. As a result, many buildings for the Centenary Museum, Molecular Biology Department, Organic Chemistry, Round Canteen Shopping Complex, Genetics and Genomics, Mysuru School of Law, School of Planning and Architecture came up in the campus. While some of the Departments are functioning from the new buildings, a few structures are left unused, which has resulted in miscreants using them for nefarious activities.

The portico of the twin buildings of Molecular Biology and Organic Chemistry Block, located close to the Centenary Museum has become a perfect setting for alcoholics to have their drink. The space around the building is littered with liquor and wine bottles, plastic covers of junk foods and other food packing materials. Such an ugly scene in the campus is an insult to great personalities like Mahatma Gandhi and Kuvempu.

As the buildings do not have a compound and with no security in place, the area has become a haven for alcoholics and for stray dogs that wander around in search of waste food strewn all around there. It is high time the University authorities wake up and take measures to save the honour of the highly regarded University of Mysore.

Mysore Varsity's Centenary Convocation date hinges on PMO's confirmation

Prime Minister's Office handed over dates from Jan. 15 to March 30

Mysuru, Dec. 6 (RK&BCT)- The University of Mysore is awaiting the confirmation from the Prime Minister's Office (PMO) on his scheduled visit to attend the 100th convocation ceremony of the University, which will be held in February or March 2020. Otherwise, full preparations are on to conduct the ceremony in a grand manner.

Prof. Hemantha Kumar

In July this year, University of Mysore (UoM) Vice-Chancellor Prof. G. Hemantha Kumar met Prime Minister Narendra Modi at the Parliament Office in New Delhi and invited him to attend the Centenary Year Convocation. He was accompanied by Mysuru-Kodagu MP Pratap Simha and Bengaluru South MP Tejasvi Surya.

While extending the invite, the VC had presented the PM the Coffee Table Book 'One Hundred Years — University of Mysore'. "Though the PM had accepted the invitation, confirmation from the PMO is yet to be received.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Prof. Hemantha Kumar said that once the PMO confirms Modi's visit, the convocation dates will be decided. "We have planned a grand ceremony. Based on the PM's confirmation and availability we will be finalising the date. We have given date from Jan. 15 to March-end. And any date based on his availability is fine with us. Once the PMO confirms the date, we will speed up the preparation and conduct various programmes for the event," he added.

If the Prime Minister confirms his visit, keeping his security in mind, probably the convocation may be shifted to the Open Air Theatre from the usual Crawford Hall, the VC said.

Included in the programmes planned for the convocation are different cultural programmes, lectures by three Nobel Laureates, honouring 25 Professors of Mysore University who have become Vice-Chancellors of other Universities and inauguration of the Centenary Hall.

Proposed courses

If the Government permits, the University plans to start Engineering and Pharmacy Colleges and use the University land at the foot of Chamundi Hill to start running Hotel Management, Tourism and Commerce courses, Prof. Hemantha Kumar added.

High-power Panel

The VC will form a 12-member high-power committee for the centenary convocation. The centenary celebration of the University took place in 2016 as the University was established in 1916. The VC added that when compared to last year, the number of gold medals will be more. 10 to 15 medals will be added to the existing tally of 372 gold medals which will be given to outstanding students.

In all, nearly 29,000 candidates will be conferred with different degrees. More than 350 candidates are expected to receive Ph.Ds, nearly 8,300 candidates will be conferred with Master's Degrees and nearly 20,000 candidates will be conferred with Bachelor's Degrees.

Cop Sajjanar was present in 2008 encounter too

He had led a similar encounter in Warangal in 2008 and had earned the epithet 'the encounter cop'

Hyderabad, Dec. 6 (UNI& Agencies)- The encounter of all the four accused in the Hyderabad veterinarian's rape and murder case is somewhat similar to an alleged encounter that happened in Warangal, eleven years ago. The top cop who is handling the Hyderabad vet's rape case, Cyberabad Police Chief Vishwanath C. Sajjanar, was the Superintendent of Police in Warangal, at the time of that encounter.

Vishwanath C. Sajjanar

In December 2008, the AP Police gunned down three men accused of throwing acid on two women engineering students. The students — Swapnika and Pranitha — of the Kakatiya Institute of Technology in Warangal town were attacked after Swapnika had rejected the proposal of Srinivas, one of the accused. Srinivas Rao, 25, the main accused in the case, and his associates P. Harikrishna, 24, and B. Sanjay, 22, were killed in the encounter.

Similar to this morning's encounter, the then SP said that a Police team had gone with the accused to the scene of the crime to collect evidence. However, the men reportedly tried to attack the cops with crude bombs. Sajjanar had said that the cops opened fire in self-defence, killing all three accused.

Sajjanar, a low profile cop till then, earned the epithet 'the encounter cop' then. The arrests were made 48 hours within the attack on the girl and the encounter happened within days. Though the families of the accused and rights activists had questioned the encounter, Sajjanar became a local hero.

Rose petals showered on Police, sweets distributed

Hyderabad/Mysuru, Dec 6 (UNI)- Amid raging debates over whether the Telangana Police was justified in killing the four accused of the Hyderabad rape and murder case, flower petals were showered at the encounter site, while neighbours of the veterinarian offered sweets, tied rakhi to Police personnel.

"DCP Zindabad", "ACP Zindabad" slogans were raised. Many women in Hyderabad danced to drum beats and offered sweets to the Police on the streets. They even tied Rakhis. Even Star of Mysore was flooded with calls this morning where callers expressed happiness over "quick justice."

Kin shocked at encounter

Hyderabad, Dec. 6 (UNI& Agencies)- Parents of the deceased accused have reacted to the news of the death of their sons. The prime accused Areef's mother is visibly distraught. "I don't know what they've done. My son is gone! Of course, this is wrong. I am not able to speak," she said between sobs.

The mother of another accused Shiva said, "Sir, if my son was found to be guilty, then please shoot him," she cried. Shiva's father on the other hand questioned why only the four accused in this particular case were given such punishments.

"We told earlier itself to kill them instead of putting them in jail, but they should've at least given us a chance to see them before killing them," says the father of accused Naveen.

Earlier, Jayamma – the mother of Chennakesavulu had said that her son should be punished if found guilty. Chennakesavulu's wife is inconsolable. "He's left me within a year of getting married, please take me to the spot where you killed him and kill me also. I can't live without him," she cried.

My daughter's soul must be at peace: Disha's father

The bridge under which the encounter took place this morning. It is the same place where the veterinarian was raped and murdered.

Hyderabad, Dec. 6 (UNI& Agencies)- After the four accused in the gang-rape and murder case of a veterinarian in Hyderabad were killed in an encounter, the family of the deceased woman, Disha, expressed their gratitude towards the Police and the Government.

"It has been 10 days to the day my daughter died. They killed the accused in an encounter in 10 days. I express my gratitude towards the Telangana Government, the Police and those who supported us. My daughter's soul must be at peace now," Disha's father told the media.

"There should be a change in law that ensures rapists are hanged to death immediately. They should know this is what will happen to them if they even look at a woman," Disha's mother said. Disha's sister also expressed gratitude towards the Police, the Telangana Government, the media and everyone else who supported them.

"I didn't expect that action will be taken so swiftly. We expected the case to go to Court and the accused would be hanged, and justice would be served that way. We are happy, and I believe that others will now be scared to do something like this. I'm grateful for all the support; and this is the result of all the support," the sister said.

She added, "These reactions should bring about a change, and this incident should serve as an example to ensure that what happened with Disha doesn't happen with anyone else again." Disha's friends and neighbours were also distributing sweets and bursting crackers.

"Thank you to the Government and the Police. Delhi Police should learn from them. We are very happy here and are distributing sweets here. We used to be scared of approaching the Police earlier, but now we're not scared anymore, so thank you," a neighbour said.

Nirbhaya's mother welcomes

Reacting to the encounter, the mother of Nirbhaya – the woman who died in the horrific gang rape in Delhi in 2012 – said that she is very happy with the news. "Police has done a great job and I demand that no action should be taken against the Police personnel," she said. Nirbhaya's father said, "I'm glad that the family will not have to suffer the way we are. No one should raise a finger on the Police, the accused would have escaped if they would have not taken this step."

Nirbhaya killers' mercy petition with President

New Delhi, Dec. 6 (UNI)- The Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) is in the process of rejecting the mercy plea filed by one of the accused in the rape and murder of Nirbhaya. Nirbhaya, a 23-year-old paramedic student, was raped and murdered in New Delhi on Dec. 16, 2012.

Vinay Sharma, one of the five accused has sought mercy from the death penalty from President Ram Nath Kovind. The President decides on the plea in consultation with the Ministry of Home Affairs and Delhi Government. Sources in the MHA said that they are in process of sending their recommendation to reject the plea. The Delhi Government has already sent its recommendation to reject the mercy petition.

On Oct. 29, Tihar Jail authorities had informed four of the five convicts that they have exhausted all legal remedies and they could not file for mercy petition with the President.

Only one, Vinay Sharma, filed the mercy plea, three others - Pawan Gupta, Akshay Thakur and Mukesh Singh — chose not to.

The President now awaits MHA's recommendation.

Unnao rape survivor testifies

Lucknow, Dec. 6- A 23-year-old rape survivor fighting for her life with 90 per cent burns has told the Police this morning that she was thrashed and stabbed before being set on fire by five men near her village in Unnao in Uttar Pradesh.

She was on her way to a Court hearing in her rape complaint yesterday when the men surrounded her near a railway station. "At 4 am I was going to a local railway station to catch a train to Rae Bareli. Five people were waiting for me. They surrounded me and first hit me on the leg with a stick and also stabbed me in the neck with a knife. After that they poured petrol on me and set me on fire," the woman told the Police from her hospital bed in Unnao.

"When I started shouting, a crowd collected and the Police was called," she said. Her alleged rapist Shivam Trivedi, who was among the attackers, had been released on bail in the case five days ago. His co-accused Shubham Trivedi, who had been missing, also participated in the attack.

ODP rally demands execution of all rape accused, Anganwadi workers seek service rules

Mysuru, Dec.6 (MTY&DM)- On the day when the Cyberabad Police in neighbouring Telangana State shot dead all the four accused in the Disha rape and murder case that shook the nation, here in Mysuru hundreds of people under the banner of ODP (Organisation for the Development of People) took out a rally from Kote Anjaneyaswamy temple to Gandhi Square demanding execution of all the convicts sentenced to death in Nirbhaya case and all other such cases elsewhere.

Alleging that many culprits were escaping punishment due to the delay in justice delivery, the protestors wanted the Government to set up more fast-track courts to try heinous crimes against women and the society.

Maintaining that any delay in the trial will often lead to political interference in favour of the accused, the protestors urged the Government not to give scope for political influence in the trial of heinous acts and to expedite the execution of death convicts, as the execution would act as a strong deterrent to offenders.

The protestors welcomed the Telangana Police action of killing all the four accused in the Disha case in an encounter today.

ODP Director Rev. Fr. Alex Prashanth Sequera, office-bearers Asha, Sunitha, Arokya Mary, Yamuna Mary, Pushpa Mary, Molly Furtado and others took part.

Anganwadi workers rally: Seeking fulfilment of their demands, Anganwadi workers under the banner of CITU-affiliated Karnataka State Anganwadi Workers Association, took out a massive rally in the city this morning. The rally, which commenced from Gun House Circle, passed through Chamaraja Double Road, Ramaswamy Circle, JLB Road and Vinoba Road to reach the Deputy Commissioner's Office, where they staged a demo.

Opposing the Government's policy of starting LKG and UKG Pre-school classes in Government Schools, the Anganwadi workers urged the Government to introduce LKG and UKG classes in Anganwadi Centres itself.

They also demanded dropping of 3 to 9 year categorisation as envisaged in the new education policy, introduction of LIC based pension scheme, payment of minimum wage in accordance with seniority of service, promotion of anganwadi helpers and framing of service rules among others.

Later, they presented their 14-point charter of demands to the DC's Office. Association President H.S.Sunanda, office-bearers Dharmavathi, K.P. Kaveramma and others took part.

Mysuru, Dec.6 (MTY&DM)- A 55-year-old lady teacher from the city was severely assaulted yesterday by an unidentified man at a School in H.D.Kote taluk where she was working.

A.S. Nagamani, a resident of Gangothri Layout, is the assaulted.

Nagamani was working at Pailwan Government School near Gaddige in H.D.Kote taluk for the past four years. The School has only two teachers. As the other teacher had gone for Hunsur by-poll election duty on Thursday, Nagamani was alone in the School, when an unidentified man came in the afternoon and asked her for some documents.

12th edition of Tour of Nilgiris

from Mysuru on Dec. 8

The participants of last year's Tour of Nilgiris (TfN) in Mysuru.

Mysuru, Dec. 6- Tour of Nilgiris (TfN), the largest and most loved bike tours in India and also the flagship event of Ride-A-Cycle Foundation (RAC-F), is scheduled between Dec. 8 and 15.

TfN 2019 is the 12th edition and will witness 60 cyclists pedal 850+ kms through some of the astounding terrains of Karnataka, Kerala and Tamil Nadu.

Starting from Regenta Central Herald, Mysuru, on Dec. 8, the cyclists will pedal through Hassan, Chikmagalur, Kushalanagar, Sultan Bathery, Udhagamandalam (Ooty) and return to Mysuru to complete the tour on Dec. 15. On Day 5, while pedalling from Sultan Bathery to Ooty, cyclists will climb the Kalhatti Ghat which is among the toughest cycling climbs in the world.

TfN has been continuously evolving and each edition has something new for the cyclists — be it the route, terrain, geography, etc. The 12th edition will see cyclists on Day 2 pedal from Hassan to Chikmagalur and this allows riders to experience the unique topography Malnad offers. For TfN this is a new route and cyclists will have the pleasure to pedal past Belur and Halebeedu, with rich historical legacy in art and architecture dating back to Hoysala period.

Commenting on the Tour, Deepak Majipatil, Co-Founder, RAC-F, said, "Cycling as a healthy, leisure and life style activity has caught the imagination of many and this tribe is growing exponentially. Add to this the thrill of cycling through Nilgiris Biosphere including the three famed wildlife sanctuaries and pristine country side of Nilgiris."

Further, he added, TfN has not only emerged as India's most prestigious multi-day tour for amateur riders but also triggered passion amongst enthusiasts to pursue cycling as an extreme sport with an adventure quotient. RAC-F nurtured talent Kiran Kumar Raju, current India MTB Champion, will pedal TfN 2019.

Another dimension of TfN is that a few riders are keen to make their pedals count by giving something back to society. This year 'Charity Riders' will be pedalling for the following organisations: Kenneth Anderson Nature Society and Sita Bhateja Speciality Hospital, among others to support their respective social cause. WORD OF THE DAY

Comestible

Pronunciation: kuh-MESS-tuh-bul.

Meaning: Edible; an item of food.
Origin: Did you expect comestible to be a noun meaning "food"? You're probably not alone. As it happens, comestible is used both as an adjective and a noun. The adjective is by far the older of the two; it has been part of English since at least the 1400s. In fact, one of its earliest known uses was in a text printed in 1483 by William Caxton, the man who established England's first printing press. The noun (which is most often used in the plural form comestibles) dates to the late 1700s.
Example: After all the figs have fully ripened on our farm..., we'll start collecting grapes if the birds haven't nabbed them first and then comes the olive harvest, our most precious comestible commodity. — Carol Drinkwater.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Carbon copy

Meaning: An exact duplicate.

Origin: The term 'carbon copy' derives from carbon paper, which was, and occasionally still is, used to make copies of typewritten documents. The phrase pre-dates modern photocopiers, but even they use carbon. The paper, which was originally developed so that blind people could write without the need for pen and ink, is a thin paper coated with a mixture of wax and pigment. It was first referred to in 1806, as 'carbonated paper', by its inventor Ralph Wedgwood, in the patent for his 'Stylographic Writer'. Other forms of inked paper were also developed around the same time, some similar to what we would now recognise as typewriter ribbon. A 'carbon copy' is often referred to just as c.c. This abbreviation has become better known through its use in email. Most email software has the option to 'CC' a mail to a secondary address; 'blind carbon-copies' or 'BCCs' allow the sender to direct a copy to a secondary address but to hide that from the primary recipient. The first example of the use of 'carbon copy' relates to Wedgwood's invention, in the Burlington Hawk-Eye, May 1878, by "J. L. W." and reprinted from Chicago Post: "My own plan was to use the Wedgewood carbon copy-book, jetting down scrap notes whenever opportunity offered."

QUOTE BOX

Why settle for being a carbon copy; when you were created to be an original? — James A. Jimason
